Cary's Letter of Acceptance.

NEW YORK, Aug 16 —Samuel F Cary, in his letter of acceptance of the nomination of the Independent Greenback party for Vice President says [illegible] can mistake my position I declare that I am in favor of restoring the silver dollar to its [illegible] as the unit of value Second That all [illegible] bank notes should be withdrawn from circulation Third That paper money should consist [illegible] of notes issued by the Government [illegible] such legislation as would cause them to be [illegible] in value to the specie dollar under all circumstances and throughout all time. Interconvertible bonds of the Government bearing an [illegible] rate of interest should be issued so that [illegible] may be determined not by arbitrary laws of [illegible] and commerce or by the demands of business. [illegible] basis of currency is a shame and cheat [illegible] true basis is national credit represented by interest bearing bonds Stripped of all disguise the point at issue is whether [illegible] banks shall furnish all currency or whether it shall be supplied by the government [illegible] the old parties are distinctly committed to a policy of unlimited issue of National Bank notes and the withdrawal of all government currency [illegible] the wildest inflation of National Bank notes is provided for by a resumption act which both parties [illegible] defending as only to the time when the work [illegible] be completed

I shall soon print an address to show the causes [illegible] have brought business men to the verge of [illegible] ruptcy

Duke Gwinn's Opinion.

NEW YORK, Aug 16 —The Graphic's reporter interviewed Gwin, who said I want to see Tilden [illegible]. I worked for his nomination He will [illegible] make a change Tilden you know is [illegible] months old as an office holder, but the [illegible] he has struck since his election have given [illegible] assurance that he is a better man for the [illegible] than other men who have held office [illegible] their lives. Don't you know there is something [illegible] in the present Government? I left the Senate in 1871, while I was there the yearly expenditure was only $60 000 000 We economized we cut [illegible] expenses everywhere we even stopped [illegible] custom houses. You ask me about California We are going to win in California but it will be a hard battle I think but we are going [illegible] I haven't been there for 12 months and I [illegible] not as well informed about the situation as [illegible] as I ought to be I am going to start for [illegible] to-day and when I arrive there I shall [illegible] all about things The fact is the Democrats [illegible] have been too confident You see we only [illegible] last election by a bare majority The Republicans and Independents then have formed a [illegible] and the battle will be hard but the [illegible] will not get all the Independent votes, [illegible] could put our majority in the State at 10 000 [illegible] I think we have lost some votes by being [illegible] confident, and then another thing we have [illegible] papers. Of the one hundred thousand [illegible] that are in San Francisco every [illegible] less than ten thousand are for us

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON Aug 15 [illegible] [illegible] engraving extra [illegible]

Senate receded from its amendment to House bill [illegible] District of Columbia expenses and bill passed as it came from the House

Senate insisted on its amendment to House bill [illegible] the Indian war A conference was appointed

Conkling offered what he called Morrill's [illegible] statistics that in 18[illegible] the United States had [illegible] civil employes and gave from a table he had the correct number [illegible]

Amendment to House bill to encourage and [illegible] telegraphic communication between America and Asia was agreed to and bill passed

The chair presented the President's message returning unapproved Senate bill for sale of [illegible] of reservation of Confederated Otoe and Missouri Indian lands in Kansas and Nebraska also message stating his conviction after further examination—that his returning the bill without his [illegible] and asking its return for signature

Edmunds questioned whether the constitution would allow the return of a bill after the President had vetoed it and said the bill must now be passed notwithstanding the veto He moved its reference to the elections committee.

Ingalls argued that the President could no more recall a vetoed bill than a signed bill

The motion to refer was rejected and bill passed over the veto by a unanimous vote

Chair announced as Senate members of committee on framing government for District of Columbia Windom and Whyte

Oglesby called up House bill to create an additional land office at Colfax passed

Windom called up House joint resolution providing for final adjournment and moved to amend so that the two houses of Congress adjourn at 7 o P M this day Amendment was agreed to and resolution as amended adopted

Windom and McCreery were appointed a committee to join with the House committee to wait on the President and notify him that Congress was ready to adjourn

Senate at 4 P M took a recess until 7 P M

Morrill called up House joint resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to inquire into the change which has taken place in the value of gold and silver causes etc He said the Senate committee on finance had proposed amendments to the resolution but on account of the near close of the session they did not desire to press them now They were willing to have the resolution passed as it came.

Bill for the relief of Mrs Jas K Polk widow of ex President Polk, was discussed at some length and passed

Logan called up the report of conference committee on the bill to authorize the President to accept the service of volunteers for the Indian war agreed to

At 7 30 President Ferry's gavel fell and he made a speech returning thanks to the Senators for the courtesy and support extended him during this session In the impeachment trial and other arduous duties he had to perform He concluded as follows "This session has drawn to a close While associated with other history [illegible] events it will be especially notable as embracing the union of centuries in the life of the Republic The national permanency however, is now guaranteed against personal change We are about to part but not without the suggestive reflection that in the first month of the next century to this in which we separate, our number was broken by the death of one who in his short senatorial career had secured the attachment of many and the respect of all and by the departure of another whose career had qualified him for the merited place of executive and adviser which he now honors with credit to himself and the Senate. In returning to your several States to greet their approval of your distinguished services, may the Heavens kindly care for and attend the return of you all with added strength to renew your labors next December To the officers of the Senate, whose valued aid has enabled me to hold your confidence I tender my sincere acknowledgments Finally I wish you all a safe return to your respective homes I now pronounce the first regular session of the Senate of the Forty fourth Congress adjourned without day (Applause on the floor and in the galleries)

House.

A message was received from the President announcing that he had signed the diplomatic appropriation bill and called attention to its unconstitutional provisions inserted by the House

Lawrence thought the obligation to appropriate for ministers' salaries as binding as any other

Tucker pronounced against the doctrine announced by the other side concerning the President's message about the river and harbor bill It was the President's duty after signing a bill to see that its provisions are executed

Holman and Tucker carried on the debate on this question against Garfield Lawrence Banks and others. Message was referred to committee on appropriations

Banning, Mills and Thornburg were appointed a conference committee on the bill for increase of cavalry in the Indian war

Page moved to take up and pass Senate bill encouraging telegraph communication between America and Asia after discussion adopted

An amendment by Holman to guard against monopoly passed

Hunton from the judiciary committee made report exonerating the chairman of the committee Knott in connection with the Caldwell telegram He at the same time presented a paper written by [illegible] to the effect that when he stated on former report being made that there was to be no discussion on it he had not the authority of Knott nor had Knott any knowledge of that arrangement

McCreery presented the minority view namely that during the closing hours of the session when there is no time for debate no reports should be made, that the matter had not been investigated no testimony was taken and that the report was wholly based on the presumption of the chairman's good faith and without notice This presumption was overthrown by Knott's speech and the evidence alone could determine the motive The majority report was adopted by a party vote

The bill appropriating $20 000 to pay the expenses of the commission to frame the District of Columbia government passed and the chair appointed Clymer Hunton and Willard of Michigan on the commission

The House took recess for half an hour awaiting message from the Senate fixing the hour of final adjournment

After recess in the absence of other business the Speaker announced the commencement of the morning hour in which Bland's silver bill had precedence

Bland moved the previous question and the opponents of the bill began dilatory motions to consume the hour

Banning made conference report on bill increasing the cavalry for the Sioux war and explained it. The House recedes from its proposition authorizing the raising of 5000 volunteer cavalry and accepts the increase of the regular cavalry by 2 500 report agreed to—17 to [illegible]

Banks congratulated the House on its health and happiness during this laborious session The House could not forget that at the very moment of its organization one of its most beloved and honorable members was stricken down with disease and was failing in health until the House was led to believe his end very near He had a telegram in his hand dated to this afternoon which reads My condition is very critical No change since this morning He was sure it would be the universal desire that the House express its [illegible] to Speaker its confidence in his high integrity its admiration for his services and its hope for the restoration of his health He therefore offered the following

Resolved That the House of Representatives at this moment of closing its present session tenders Mr. Kerr its beloved presiding officer the usual [illegible] expression of the heartfelt sympathy of its members in his affliction and its hope that on recovery of his health he may soon give us his counsel and example

The resolution was declared unanimously adopted [illegible] A copy of the resolution was ordered to be telegraphed to Mr Kerr

Bill for sale of portion of Otoe reservation passed over the President's veto by a two thirds vote The Speaker announced as members of the joint committee on Chinese immigration Piper Bayh and Wilson of Iowa

At [illegible] o clock a message was received from the Senate announcing that the Senate had passed the resolution for the adjournment at 7 o clock [illegible] that evening On motion of Morrison the resolution was adopted

Page of California rising to privileged question said in appointment of the committee which has just been made the gentleman from Nevada (Wood) [illegible] and myself have not been consulted

Here the Speaker said that was not a privileged matter

Page persisted however in spite of the Speaker's [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

Welles reported that the committee had waited on the President and been informed he had no further communication to make to Congress

Garfield Clymer having taken the chair offered a resolution tendering the thanks of the House to Speaker pro tem for the impartiality, efficiency and ability with which he has discharged the arduous duties of his office.

Speaker Kerr's Condition

WASHINGTON Aug [illegible] The following dispatch received from Speaker Kerr's [illegible] Father's condition is unchanged since Saturday Our hope is weakening All of [illegible] the times are [illegible] Dr [illegible] and his power [illegible] time is short He is wonderfully calm and resigned speaking of his death in its effects upon [illegible]

ROCKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS Aug [illegible]—Mr Kerr's condition to-night scarcely gave hope that he will live much longer He grows weaker hourly but his mind retains its clearness and vigor and he converses freely of his condition He fully recognizes the near approach of death and is resigned and though suffering terribly endures it with wonderful fortitude and patience He has received telegrams throughout the day and dictated replies His private secretary Whittier is with him and his wife and son are constantly at his bedside Dr Pope of Washington who has been sent for is hourly expected and on his power to furnish immediate relief as he recently did in Washington rests the only hope of his family

Closing Scene in the Senate.

Nothing could be more common place and stupid than the closing hours of the Senate The last hours of a session of Congress generally bring to the Senate crowded galleries and bustle of business on the floor During the session to-day there was at no time fifty persons in the galleries and at the time of adjournment there were not a dozen The President spent most all day in his room with his Cabinet and had little business to keep himself occupied Nearly all the Senators having friendly relations with Grant called during the day and there was a good deal of pleasant civil intercourse among members of the Cabinet and Republican Senators A great number of nominations were confirmed and the calendar pretty well cleared The names of those ministers resident at foreign legations abolished by the consular and diplomatic bill were sent in to-day by the President as charges d affairs and were promptly confirmed

The expense of summer commissions will be more than quadruple that of late previous years Three commissions will be sitting during the summer composed wholly or in part of members and Senators—commission to reorganize army, commission to report on silver question and commission on District of Columbia The sub military committee has authority to investigate the soldiers asylum

Ferry in his final speech responded with a good deal of embarrassment at [illegible] He left the Senators good by with less grace than might have been expected and an unfortunate interruption by the clerk of the House who brought the last bill for signature made his farewell a good deal of a farce When the clock marked the hour of 7 the gavel fell a feeble clapping of hands followed and the first session of the 44th Congress melted away

Meade declines to Serve on the Chinese Bill.

It was asserted in the clerk's office at the capitol to-day that Meade had also declined to serve on the Chinese committee, which leaves but one member of the House viz Piper

Meeting of the Silver Commission.

The silver commission met to-day with all members present excepting Gibson As the members are all anxious to leave the city as soon as possible no steps were taken for transacting any business to-day, and the commission adjourned to meet in New York on the second Monday in September at which time three experts will be appointed The duty of appointing these has devolved upon the commission

Legislation for the Pacific Coast

WASHINGTON Aug 16—Following are Senator Mitchell's bills Extending the time for completion of the survey of Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad granting Walla Walla and Columbia River Railroad the right of way over the military reservation extending the time for completion of the Oregon Central Railroad donating the military road between Astoria and Salem to the counties it passes through all passed the Senate but are still pending in the House His bills for the construction of a telegraph from Portland to Fort Canby and for the sale of the Umatilla Indian Reservation were reported adversely, but the latter was subsequently recommitted for further consideration His bills for the establishment of an assay office at Portland to make Alaska a county of Washington Territory and granting the right of way for wagon roads over the Blue mountains are still in committee unreported Kelly's bill extending the time for completion of the Northern Pacific passed the Senate but was rejected by the House He also passed his bill for the sale of timber lands and to create additional land districts in Idaho which are still pending in the House His bill to annex Walla Walla county to Oregon to [illegible] [illegible] in Arizona and New Mexico and for the issue of patents in mission land cases were reported favorably but remain on the Senate calendar

Representative Lane passed his bills to pay Modoc war claims and for issue of [illegible] for the Klamath Indian reservation But they are not yet finally acted on by the Senate His bills relating to the boundaries of Oregon to the issue of [illegible] land [illegible] and for the sale of [illegible] reservation, have been acted on favorably by the committees but could not be passed for want of opportunity to bring them before the House His bills concerning [illegible] lands and [illegible] [illegible] and Salt Lake railroad were [illegible] not acted on. He passed several private bills

Senator Sharon introduced no bills and took no practical part in the legislation of the session

Senator Jones devoted his attention mainly to the silver question and did service in the finance committee His speeches in favor of reviving the old silver dollar with unlimited legal tender power though denounced and even ridiculed when he first broached his proposition have had an extraordinary effect and are now generally acknowledged to be the main cause and support of the present powerful movement in Congress to revive a double standard and make silver the [illegible] basis of resumption of specie payments Jones is chairman of the commission appointed to investigate the silver question and report next [illegible] Congress will probably remain here two months on this side of the continent and may perhaps go to Europe to promote inquiries there

Sargent Mitchell Kelly and Lane will visit their old homes before starting to the Pacific, but may be expected early in September

Grant's Relations with Bristow.

NEW YORK Aug 16—The Herald publishes an interview between President Grant and its Washington correspondent According to the report of this interview the President stated there were many misrepresentations and [illegible] from [illegible] of communication between Bristow and him and recites the affair [illegible] Wilson's illustrative of this He never asked for the resignation of the former but several times when he voluntarily proposed to resign and was [illegible] anxious to do so the President prevailed on him to stay in office Bristow insisted upon the acceptance of his resignation because he said he could not endure the [illegible] superintending either the discharge or the [illegible] down of Treasury employes Again and for the third time Bristow [illegible] [illegible]

The Melancholy Days, the Saddest of the Year.

CHICAGO Aug 16—The Journal's Washington special says the national capitol is assuming the stale and unprofitable aspect of the vacation period Nearly all the Senators and Representatives have left for home and the President heads of departments and bureaus and many clerks are packing up preparatory for a resting spell A very dull time will now be upon us Candid men of all parties are agreed that the long session with all its investigations and turmoils has been a very unprofitable one to the government the country and especially to the Democratic party Many of the best and wisest of our statesmen depart under sense of regret that the silver legal tender bill failed to become a law believing that it would have been an effective solution of our financial problem Many feel that the failure to convict and punish Belknap was a grave blunder of the Senators while others feel that the failure of the post route bill with its provision for the restoration of the franking privilege was lucky

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Civil War Imminent in Greece.

LONDON Aug 16—A Times Athens dispatch says in consequence of the refusal to grant the demands of the Cretan assembly great excitement prevails and a rising has been imminent The Cretans sought the advice of Greece and the latter urged to appeal to the Great Powers and await the result, which they will probably do A dispatch from Dublin says the report is untrue that Lord Lytton contemplates resigning the Governor General ship of India next year

Japanese Junk Wrecked.

Capt Nelson of the British bark Abbey Cole, which arrived at this port yesterday, states that on July 3d while in latitude 37 10 north longitude 167 3 [illegible] E, he sighted a vessel apparently dismasted with signals flying. He found the wreck to be a Japanese junk bound from Hakodadi to Hongkong, which had left the former port on the 19th of November, 1875. The junk had been dismasted, after which it had drifted helplessly about The master and nine crew had died from four to six months ago of scurvy and two of the survivors had salted them down in the hold, the stench from which was horrible They had thrown the cargo of salt fish overboard The survivors were in a most deplorable condition from scurvy. One was black and entirely helpless the other not so bad, but both were very much emaciated having had nothing but dry rice and what fish they caught and no water but when it rained, and latterly no fire, having used everything available for fuel The junk was a complete wreck

Arrival of Lord Dufferin at Esquimalt.

VICTORIA, Aug 16 —His Excellency the Governor General and suite arrived at Esquimalt at 7 o clock last evening on board the H M S Amethyst Capt Cochrane, eighty nine hours from San Francisco The news of his Excellency's arrival created great excitement as the Amethyst was not expected before this afternoon He will land at Esquimalt at 1 o clock to-day

No sign of the steamship City of Panama It is supposed as she was not seen by the Amethyst, that she has steered a course nearer land and has encountered dense fogs and head winds, or from stress of weather has been compelled to put into Port Orford

Reception of Lord Dufferin.

Lord Dufferin landed at Esquimalt at 1 P M to-day, where he was met by Lieut Gov Richards and cabinet and the members of the reception committee in carriages who formed in procession and came towards Victoria. On reaching the city limits the procession was met by the mayor and city council firemen militia Odd Fellows, Foresters and other societies who added very largely to the procession which proceeded through the principal streets passing under several arches that had been erected along the line and halted at the grand arch on the intersection of Government and Yates streets, where the address of the mayor and council was presented to the governor general to which he read a reply The school children, who had gathered under the arch then sang God save the Queen and the procession moved on A private arch that had been erected on Fort street and bore the motto [illegible] Carnarvon's terms or separation, and therefore objectionable was avoided The procession took another route and afterwards returned to Fort street beyond the arch and continued the march to the government house The city was crowded with people Every horse and carriage that could be hired at fabulous prices was secured All the streets along the route were finely decorated with evergreens and flags The reception is considered a grand success

Arrival of the Panama

The steamer City of Panama arrived at Esquimalt at noon She experienced heavy weather during the whole passage.

THE RIGHT OF CREDULITY

The divorce case of Flint vs. Flint has produced some remarkable disclosures Mrs. Flint, the petitioner, in order to show the kind of business in which her husband the spiritualist and medium is engaged when he isn't in jail has produced in court a number of memorandum books in which the conjurer kept a record of his correspondence. Mr Flint in his character of go-between or messenger to and from the spheres received various letters the contents of which were to be forwarded to him, and the answers received by him These letters are full of mortal frivolity, prying curiosity, foolish gossip silly questions and demands for information upon points about which the ghosts could be no better informed than the catechists " Would you advise me to accept the business Mrs. R. offered me?" asks a widow of her translated lord "Will I make a living?" queries another through Flint, who evidently understood the art of making a living without any instruction from on high. "Shall I get a divorce?" asks a Mrs. B of her "Uncle Zachariah" "Will you locate an oil well for me?" inquires another, "Ought I to go to the silver mines?" asks a second, adding, "Ought I to give up Miss J—— B and trouble myself no more about her, or is there any prospect of my ever obtaining her for a wife? Will she make me happy?" etc., etc. There is one most portentous query sent by a brother to a sister: "Did you rap upon the coffin lid when the man was filling up the grave?" And there is a question which is rather melancholy, "Can it be possible that I have received a letter from you?" But of all suggestive applications for information, there is none more so than that of a certain W H W., who wants further instruction about "a flying machine which has [illegible] shown to him in his dreams." Perhaps, however, we should except the queries purporting to be sent to the spirit land by the [illegible] American minister to England, who [illegible] more information about his illustrious E[illegible] ancestors than is to be found in the H[illegible] College.

We leave the sensible reader to cha[illegible] for himself these singular evidences of [illegible] ness and of folly. The letters were sent to the mountebank, who received them under an impression that he would respect the sacredness of the seal—and he opened every one of them, making a memorandum of the [illegible] tents, and returning such replies as whim or ingenuity or the chance of a happy hit might dictate. He pocketed the money and put off his dupes with answers which meant nothing and could by no possibility mean anything His little books, regularly posted and [illegible] betically arranged, furnished him with [illegible] for new operations and for keeping up the mysterious business. All this he did in the name of "Spiritualism," conducting his nefarious calling through the faith of [illegible] in man's immortality, and toying for his profit with some of the tende[illegible] as well as some of the most sorrowful foibles of his fellow creatures. He was a prophet who [illegible] his wife He was a philosopher who told lies for a living He was a di[illegible] [illegible] of a pietist and a confidence man, playing tricks on the living in his pretended companionship with the d[illegible]d. Those who also accept the new doctrines may well rejoice over the exposure of a prof[illegible] who can only bring them into contempt and abhor[illegible] —N. Y. Tribune

DEMONETIZATION, OR REMONETIZATION—WHICH?

The silver problem proves a more confusing puzzle to the finance experts than the greenback and hard-money question. The effort to class silver along with greenbacks as something of inferior value to money, and therefore not an honest tender for public debts, is by no means so successful as in the case of the Treasury notes. Many people, who took ground unhesitatingly against the fraud of paying off the national bonds in legal tender notes, fail to appreciate the argument that the loss of money value in silver coins brings it morally within the same process of reasoning. It is urged, on the one hand, that the agreement was to pay in money, and that the decline of silver in the money markets of the world makes it no longer money in the highest sense of the term; and that the same rule of morals which would prohibit the payment of national obligations in paper, would likewise stand in the way of paying them in a depreciated metallic currency; that if the depreciation of 10 or 15 per cent. is an objection in morals to the payment in paper, a depreciation of 5 per cent. is an equally forcible objection to paying in silver; the fact of depreciation, and not the extent of it, being the moral test. This is plausible to say the least. But is it sound? There is room for argument on the other side, and many who are uncompromising opponents of every financial scheme which would bring dishonor on the country and do injustice to its creditors, and who therefore denounce the greenback scheme as a fraud, fail to see the same objection to the use of silver coin. Greenbacks are a mere device originating in a temporary necessity and supposed to be provisional in character; not money but a representative of money to be paid in the future; not essential value, but the negotiable obligation of the Government ultimately to pay value, with the quality of legal tender, to a limited extent, added to their negotiability. But their being made a legal tender, especially when the Government itself refuses to receive them for duties on imports—the largest branch of its revenues—did not relieve them of their local and provisional character. And herein they differ from silver. When the national obligations were entered into silver was a money of the civilized world. Silver and gold, not gold alone, were the precious metals, that is, the metals of which money was made, and silver was more in use for money than gold. About two-thirds of all the metallic coin of the world was silver. Can it be said, then, that an obligation to pay in hard money was an obligation to pay in gold only, or to pay in that sort of hard money only which should retain its purchasing power to the highest degree? In answer to this question, it is urged that at the time the debts were contracted silver was not a legal tender in this country for sums above five dollars. Admitted; but what has the legal tender quality to do with the foreign debt? Neither silver or gold coin of the United States was or is a legal tender in Europe where the debt is held. It was not legal tender that was to be paid, but gold and silver. The use of the descriptive term "dollar" in the bond was a mere convenience by which to measure the amount for which the bond called. Has any one the hardihood to say that if the United States pass a law reducing the gold coins one-half in weight, and yet calling them by the same name—reduce the twenty-dollar piece to the weight of the present ten-dollar piece, and the others at the same ratio, and still call them twenty dollars, ten dollars, and so on down—it would be honest or honorable to pay off the national bonds with these new half-sized dollars at their par or face value? Certainly not. Then why say that the contract was anything more or less than an agreement to pay a given amount, by weight and fineness, of gold and silver? Why say that the legal tender quality has anything to do with the matter? If the essence of the contract is simply that the government shall pay such an amount of legal tender at par, then the Vallandigham-Pendleton theory is the true one, and we should just set the printing machinery at work and turn out paper legal tender enough to square the account with our creditors. But the obligations of honor go deeper and mean more than this narrow, technical construction. They embrace the idea of payment in the money metals of the world—gold and silver of definite amount by weight.

Then why not remonetize, instead of demonetizing silver? The argument of inconvenience may afford a sufficient answer to the question; certainly the argument of moral obligation to pay in gold does not. True, the purchasing power of silver has declined. That was the creditor's risk, not ours. The purchasing power of gold also has declined within this generation, though not in so great proportion. In fact, the purchasing power of both gold and silver has always been fluctuating, with a general tendency downward. A shilling would buy as much in Queen Anne's time as a pound will buy now. But will it be said that an obligation to pay a shilling, entered into in Queen Anne's time and just now due, would in morals now be an obligation to pay a pound? Hardly. A thousand dollars would buy as much in 1776 as two thousand in 1876. But will any one insist that a government bond of 1776 for $1,000, payable one hundred years after date, would now be morally a bond for $2,000? Until the affirmative of that proposition can be successfully maintained it will not be shown that the mere fact of a decline in [illegible] value is a valid reason for demanding something different from that which is nominated in the bond.

But they say the world has been glutted with silver by reason of the immense deposits of that metal which have been opened in Nevada, a State of the American Union; and shall we take advantage of the depreciation which has been produced largely by our own surplus? Why not? If a farmer engages, in consideration of one hundred dollars paid him today by a grocer, that he will deliver to the grocer one year from date two hundred bushels of potatoes, and next year there is such an extraordinary crop of potatoes in the country as to reduce their market value—which is their purchasing power—to ten cents per bushel, will the farmer be expected to make up the loss? Reverse the case: say there is a short crop and potatoes rise to two dollars, would not the grocer expect his full amount notwithstanding the great increase of the purchasing power of potatoes? Suppose by reason of bountiful harvests, and over-production in all branches of industry the purchasing power of gold and silver increased instead of decreasing—as has actually been the case within the last four years—would there be a corresponding rebate on the national debt? Not at all. The true theory is that the increase or decrease of the purchasing power of the thing contracted for does not affect the performance of the contract, whether that thing be gold and silver, or any other commodity.

As we remarked before, the convenience of commerce may afford a sufficient reason for not remonetizing silver and making the most of the advantage which our big bonanzas place in our hands. We do not propose to discuss that question at present. But certainly the argument of the demonetizers, so far as it is based on the ground of morals and honorable dealing, does not bear analysis.

THE LABOR PROBLEM.

We have just received a circular from a workingmen's association in the East asking all newspapers, that are not devoted to the interests of capital against labor, to join in a demand upon the general government for such a policy as will furnish labor to the working people till times revive and private employment can be obtained. The OREGONIAN belongs to the class of journals described; but we can not accede to the request. Those financeers who argue that the government should make employment for the surplus labor in the country by entering upon some great national public works, can not claim much originality in their theory, but there is something so fresh as to pass well enough for originality in their innocence of the first principles of political economy. Suppose all the laborers and mechanics who have been thrown out of employment by the contraction of the business of the country were set to work by the government at fair wages, how long would it be before that fact would draw hither thousands more from other countries where business is equally stagnant and employment equally scarce? And then when the government could no longer give employment, the excess of labor would be just so much greater than at present. By such a policy there would be temporary relief to the laboring classes, to be followed soon by still greater suffering. The truth may as well be understood about this labor question. Capital has broken itself down in overproduction, and is compelled to contract its operations. There is enforced retrenchment among the employers, and there must be corresponding retrenchment among employes. The employe must concede something as well as the employer. Labor must not expect the same demand and the same wages now which it had when times were flush and business was done on the high-pressure plan. That is the road and the only road that leads out of the present embarassment, and they who think to meet and overcome the difficulties of the problem by any short patent process will discover in time how futile are all endeavors to prevent the operation of the natural law of supply and demand in the labor market as well as in other branches of business.

The evidence of Mr. John I. Davenport in the investigation with regard to moneys expended by the Department of Justice in 1872 fails to give a very satisfactory account of the $34,000 Government money used by him in the Presidential election of that year. He was Government Supervisor of elections under the enforcement law of Congress. He was appointed, it is claimed, not because of any peculiar fitness for the work of preventing frauds in elections, but because of his experience and adroitness as a political manipulator—not because he would make frauds impossible, but because he could commit them successfully. Whether this uncharitable view is the correct one or not, his explanation of the expenditure of the large sum of money given him by the Attorney General is open to criticism. He says he paid it out to employes in making a complete registration of all the legal voters of the city in addition to the registration provided for by State law. There might be a case in which some such extraordinary precaution against a fraudulent election would be justifiable, and surely there is no place where it would be more likely to be required than in New York city. But the misfortune is that there are other bills and vouchers on file in the proper office at Washington showing that the employes were paid for the same work out of another fund. So the $34,000 is still unaccounted for. The committee have reported a recommendation that suit be instituted against him to recover this money.

The bill to repeal the resumption clause of the act of January 14, 1875, passed the House of Representatives on the 5th instant by a vote of 106 to 86. Among those voting for the bill was Mr. Lane, of Oregon. Thus Oregon is misrepresented by her Congressman, and set down as favoring the indefinite postponement of the resumption of specie payment. It behooves the people of this State to wipe out the disgrace of that repudiation vote, by repudiating Mr. Lane and sending Richard Williams to Congress.

CITY.

LAUNCH OF THE PILOT.—Mr. Holman's new pilot boat, the Pilot, ... was launched from ... yesterday afternoon and was witnessed by ... were included in ... the hour ... made ... could not be completed until a little after five. At ... minutes past ... o'clock all the scaffolding was knocked away, the braces taken from under the keel so that the hull could rest evenly in the cradle, and Mr Steffen the contractor gave orders for those who were to cut the ropes which held the ship to the ways to stand by. At the word three the ropes were severed simultaneously and the hull glided gracefully down the lubricated ways and plunged into the water. Before reaching water deep enough to float the vessel the lower ends of the cradle timbers struck the sand and refusing to move further held the tug fast. Everything came to a dead standstill in about ... feet of water. The vessel having been firmly and securely braced to the shoes could not be extricated and thus remained about two-thirds launched. The steamer ..., which was lying near by, came up and hitching on endeavored to draw the vessel out of her cradle into deep water. But for want of sufficient power the task could not be accomplished. Efforts will be renewed to-day and the tug will no doubt be got afloat. While the vessel was moving down the ways toward her native element a handsome flag was thrown to the breeze on which appeared the word "PILOT," the name by which the tug will henceforth be known. All agree that in every respect the launch was a beautiful one and it seems a little unfortunate that the vessel should have stuck fast before reaching deep water—a result for which Mr Steffen the contractor cannot be held responsible.

A FALSE STATEMENT.—On authority of a letter received from San Francisco, the announcement was made yesterday morning that Miss Union Beal, a young lady well and favorably known in this city, had died there on the 30th of July of smallpox. The following is a copy of the letter received:

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2, 1876

MR. EDITOR:—I am requested to send you notice of the death of a Miss Beal from our place. Died in this city with smallpox Miss Una Beal, only child of C and I A Beal, aged 20 years, late of Portland.

(Signed) J P HAMPTON

We do not enjoy the honor of knowing who this Mr (?) Hampton is nor had we ever known that such a person existed before. The announcement made yesterday was received with surprise and pain by a large number of Miss Beal's friends in Portland, several of whom lost no time in ascertaining the authenticity of the report. It was soon known beyond reasonable doubt that there is not the least foundation for the report, but that the young lady is at present alive and well. Such being the case the writer of the above letter must have sat down and penned a willful and deliberate falsehood. What motive could have prompted the contemptible wretch we will not undertake to say. REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY.

... Our second year's operations have now closed and with it comes the pleasant duty of reporting to you the progress of our trade and commerce during the Centennial year of 1876.

A few days after our last annual report had been made serious financial difficulties threatened our progress on this North Pacific coast by the stoppage of the Bank of California, the leading banking institution of San Francisco, and the panic which followed which calamity the people of that city and State in common with ourselves feared would result in many losses in trade and shake the confidence of business men in each other. But it is with pride we have to record that owing to the stability and manner in which the trade and commerce of that city and State and of Oregon are conducted no serious commercial failures resulted either in California or Oregon while all the other financial and banking institutions of both States averted the distress and catastrophe which were expected to follow by so speedily meeting all the demands made upon them at such a crisis. Indeed the business establishments of Portland scarcely felt the effects of the panic at all. Nothing, we are satisfied, so firmly proved the efficiency of the gold coin basis on which the trade and commerce of Oregon and Washington Territory have been conducted and the soundness of our banking and commercial operations as the ability shown to meet these obligations.

While we are not making as rapid strides in wealth and prosperity as we might expect, yet keeping in view the very great general depression in business extending all over the United States and foreign countries we are progressing much more satisfactorily than other States of equal population.

Building operations have increased in many of our younger cities, while Portland, as the commercial center of the North Pacific coast, continues steadily to build more sumptuous and costly business edifices in place of the former wooden buildings erected many years ago, thus sustaining the reputation abroad which Portland has acquired for prettier buildings and more costly residences than any other city of equal size in the United States.

Formed with the object and purpose of uniting all business men of this State in one commercial organization to promote and guard the general and commercial interests of Oregon including its navigation and shipping, the Board of Trade has all along carefully endeavored only to exert its influence to carry into effect those public matters which can benefit the commerce and people of the State. In the various commercial matters of importance which have been discussed by your Board during the last two years your officers and committees have steadily kept in view the necessity of abstaining from interference with political parties, having no interests to serve beyond those which exist in common with other classes of citizens.

RAILROAD CONNECTION.

Recognizing that without railroad connection with the Atlantic States Oregon can never assume that position in commerce to which her bountiful resources entitle her, your Board has during the last year had correspondence with various parties interested in railroads, and endeavored disinterestedly to secure proposals for constructing any railroad into Oregon. The state of the money markets in Europe and the United States, the refusal of Congress to give us any pecuniary assistance in subsidies or in lands, the present unprofitable nature of one half of all American railroads and the money lost in their construction during the last eight years, together with the smallness of our commerce and population and general depression in business in the Eastern States, all combined have prevented us from expecting for some time to come any outside capitalist or corporation to construct a railroad into Oregon. Neither via the Northern Pacific nor Salt Lake routs have we received any assurance or prospect of railroad being built in the near future to Portland from the East. The proposal received from the Central Pacific Railroad Company via Nevada and Western Oregon is in fact the only proposition we have yet received or are led to expect, the details of which are already before you. Your railroad committee have zealously worked up this matter rightfully thinking that nothing is of so much importance to the future of this city and State, in which opinion we believe the people at large heartily concur. Believing that Congress would admit and that at some time we would receive what we are entitled to equally as other Western States, Congressional assistance in constructing our railroads, the efforts of our citizens have hitherto been directed towards Federal aid alone. That hope is gone, and as each portion of our State and our people are suffering severely for want of such railroad connection, it becomes an urgent necessity that this railroad matter be at once pushed ahead by all classes of our citizens. The legislature and people of California were many years ago equally placed as we are now, and in 1863 they then recognized the fact that unless that State contributed something to promote railroad connection it never would be secured to them. Hence the State of California voted $500,000 per year, or interest on $10,000,000 yearly for twenty years for that purpose. What has been the result? A chain or system of railroads extends to every portion of California, her population is trebled and the value of her real and personal property is increased six fold, and yet she has not, you will admit, as good a soil or as many and as varied resources as we possess. If therefore the people of Oregon are really in earnest for an Eastern railroad connection, this State must in proportion to her ability and population vote something towards railroad connection. While we should therefore earnestly urge the importance of this matter upon our next legislature and our people, yet it must be distinctly understood that if State aid is to be given to any corporation to construct a road into Oregon the State must receive in return substantial guarantees that ... the coming or ... rates of fares and freights must be charged in Oregon than are charged in California, without which concession we never can expect ... our ... with our sister State ... ever road is built, ought to be completed in ... years.

[illegible]

The ... will ... these improvements ... two years ... and we have ... then ... the Board ... the Engineer ... Portland ... plans will be ... by the Government be presented to Congress ... an appropriation to carry the contemplated improvements into effect. It is therefore essential that ... of Oregon ... with other ... petition Congress and take other ... steps towards ... the government ... in getting the ... appropriation granted by Congress.

LIGHTS AT ...

... last October ... the Oregon Steamship Company ... the range lights at St Helens ... consequence of the government appropriation for that purpose ... We have ... your Board along with the endorsement of ... Wilson, the Lighthouse ... at Washington, made a special application to Congress for an appropriation to sustain these lights, which was granted; consequently the appropriation which you voted for that purpose has expired.

SIGNAL STATIONS FOR ... COLUMBIA BAR.

In consequence of the repeated complaints of masters of vessels proceeding to Oregon that they were compelled to lay off the Columbia bar many days without being signaled, it became necessary for your Board in order to encourage foreign shipping to come to Oregon in greater numbers and to prevent such complaints, to devise some means for signaling vessels. Application was made by us to Congress to erect a telegraph line and cable from the forts off the bar to Portland and to establish signal stations at Forts Stevens and Canby. Congress failed to pass the bill asking an appropriation for the telegraph line but the efforts made in connection therewith brought out the Western Union Telegraph Co to offer to construct on certain conditions, which were afterwards accepted, a telegraph from Astoria to Portland, now in working operation. The Government granted the Board of Trade authority to erect the necessary signal stations on these forts and your Board having since passed appropriations for erecting one or more signal stations, the work is now (under the superintendence of Dr A C Kinney and the shipping committee) about to be proceeded with. Captain Kempff, and the lighthouse keeper have been instructed by the Government to carry into effect the necessary regulations your Board may make for signaling all vessels off the Columbia bar. We would humbly suggest now that a telegraph line is in operation between Portland and Astoria that during the shipping season all coasting and foreign (grain) vessels be telegraphed to the Board of Trade at its expense whenever signaled off the bar or known to be there.

While we are thankful for the favors so afforded by the government in authorizing these signal stations to be erected and permitting the lighthouse keepers at the forts to signal all vessels and advise us by post of the same, yet it is evident to us as it must be to every member of the Board that it is essential that one or more of these signal stations off the Columbia bar be connected by telegraph cable with the telegraph line at Astoria so that the people of Astoria and Portland may know within half an hour what vessels are lying off the bar or may be there in distress or perhaps shipwrecked (if such there should be). We know from complaints last winter that vessels have lain off the bar unobserved by the pilot or tug boats from four to sixteen days, and that one ship although chartered for Portland was so disgusted at not being signaled or taken in charge that she made all sail for San Francisco and loaded at that port. Apart from the loss to our shipping which is in this way yearly sustained and the high charters which follow the want of grain vessels coming to Oregon, it is the duty of the Federal or State government for the protection of the lives and property of citizens to erect such telegraphic cable. The cost of this cable we have ascertained will not exceed $2,500 coin and accordingly, as our shipping season and winter will soon be here, we recommend that the Board petition the State legislature for an appropriation of $2,500 to construct such telegraph to Astoria from Fort Stevens, Oregon.

Vessels when so signaled from Point Adams would then be telegraphed to Astoria and need not remain a single day off the bar or be dependent upon the pilots to signal or assist them, so that should those in charge of the pilot service fail to proceed to the assistance of or tow such vessels, other tugs can immediately thereafter be sent out in their stead. The State would not then be dependent solely upon one pilot or tug boat and shipping, when assured that no delays are ... off the bar, will come to us in greater numbers ... freights at our ... will be cheaper, while a competition may ... for the pilotage and towage of vessels off the bar which does not exist at present. As Oregon ... will reap these benefits ... clearly appears to be the State's duty to make such small appropriation.

SHIPPING.

As you will observe from the statistics accompanying this report, the gross tonnage of grain vessels leaving this port and Astoria during the grain season of 1875-6 greatly exceed the previous year, although the number of vessels are a little less. This is explained by the fact that each year shipowners learn of the facilities and quickness of dispatch we give to foreign ships coming here; they send us larger vessels to charter. Nothing so surely pointed out the adaptability of Portland as a shipping port as the very large number of iron ships 1,200 to 1,800 tons burden which loaded at our wharves during the season just closed; and when the contemplated improvements to the rivers are made by the Government engineers we shall then have the largest class of vessels which can cross the Columbia bar loading at our ports at all seasons of the year.

It is ... premature ... to ... what the prospects of tonnage this year ... carry away our ... but judging from the accounts we have received from all quarters we are in hope that ... the ... number of ships ... will be required ... at San Francisco this season Oregon may be able to get as many vessels as may be required.

[illegible]

While speaking on this matter of ... [illegible]

We learn from these surveys that ... feet of water at the lowest state of the tide is ... the ... depth of the Columbia bar and that vessels drawing ... feet ... water can at all seasons ... of the weather is favorable ... feet perfectly safe in entering the river.

... PILOTAGE AND TOWAGE ...

This is a matter which the next legislature ought to place on a more satisfactory basis. ... pilotage and towage ... the legislature fixed them ... is the same ... dissatisfaction will exist as ... and as a necessary consequence ... instead of increasing the arrivals of grain vessels will decrease. ... has already been said on this matter and what is now wanted is ... of our Board ... the next legislature in adjusting and getting ... the pilots and towage bill ... which will give to discriminating rates in the power of the ... in charge of our pilotage service but fix a ... of charges satisfactory to ship-owners and at the same time liberal and (if possible) equally satisfactory to the pilots. We learn that a competition is expected in the tugboat service on the bar. If this be so the legislature will no doubt pass such laws as will give encouragement to competition there as elsewhere.

LOCKS AT CASCADES.

We suggested in last year's Annual Report the propriety of petitioning Congress for an appropriation for Locks at the Upper Cascades and thereafter our petition was presented and personally urged upon both Houses. Congress has appropriated, you will be glad to see, $90,000 as a first installment towards proceeding with the work, and we trust that as each year passes on your Board will not fail to urge upon Congress the necessity of granting further appropriations until the Columbia river is open for steamboats from Wallula to the sea. Every improvement of this nature not only opens a wider field for the settlement of this North Pacific coast but in addition builds up the commercial prosperity of Portland.

HARBOR MASTER AT PORTLAND.

We would respectfully suggest to your consideration the propriety of having a harbor master at Portland. The shipping trade has so increased at this port that it becomes necessary, we think, that ships be placed under the usual Harbor Regulations which exist at other ports, for which purpose it will be necessary for the Legislature to create the office of Harbor Master. This office and that of Port Warden might be conjoined into one, and if so we feel satisfied that great good would result to our city. For instance the dangers of fire on board ships at wharves would in this way be much lessened.

SALMON EXPORTS AND PROTECTION.

In our annual report we pointed out the fact that our salmon exports were not shipped direct to foreign countries but went via San Francisco, and we then suggested that our merchants and exporters should endeavor to forward such exports direct from the Columbia river. It affords us satisfaction to observe that this is now being done almost entirely from Oregon instead of through the Golden Gate, and your State credited as she is entitled to be with the value and production of such shipments. The market for this valuable export is now, as was expected, gradually increasing, while prices are higher. The catch of this year it is noticed will after all be up to it, not exceed the average. Your Board has wisely pressed upon our State legislators the necessity of some laws being passed regulating the season, mode and time of catching the salmon in our rivers. While it is all very good to say that our rivers are practically inexhaustible, we must ... before it is too late, learn the lesson which other salmon producing countries have taught us—that unless this fish is placed under statutory regulations and its growth encouraged, that which certainly happened to those countries will come to us—extermination of the salmon industry. By careful legislation and by artificially hatching the spawn of the salmon (a process which even in this country may have to be resorted to) we can now preserve and increase the production of our rivers. If as we anticipate that canned salmon will eventually be used as a portion of the daily food of all civilized nations, our rivers and canneries will then be taxed to their utmost capacity in producing and exporting this valuable article of food. How important then is it for Oregon and Washington Territory to unite in framing wise laws for the protection and development of our salmon industries.

TRAVELERS FROM OTHER STATES SOLICITING TRADE.

Your Board has had this important subject under consideration, and we have addressed every State Senator and Representative thereon. ... the ... opinion that we seek to discriminate between travelers belonging to business houses of Oregon and those of California ... What we ... is that it is the duty of the State to equalize taxation so that all travelers, whether from California, Oregon or elsewhere shall pay a license ... to the State on all goods sold by sample. Such law has been already decided in U. S. supreme court as constitutional and binding. It is unjust and unreasonable that mercantile firms ... operating permanently in Oregon and whose interests are taxable within this State should be compelled to pay taxes on the property they offer for sale, while travelers from sister States and British Columbia on such goods as they offer for sale pay no taxes nor revenue of any kind. To equalize taxation, all travelers, whether belonging to or representing business houses of Oregon or houses in California, should be compelled each to take out a Traveler's License upon the amount of goods sold by sample within the State. This our legislature will ... the only equitable mode, treating as it does all travelers alike and does not infringe upon the Constitution of Oregon or of the United States.

WHEAT AND ... EXPORTS.

There is no special cause for uneasiness in the local monetary situation though the chronic grumbler still finds a place to put in a complaint of dull times and prospective disaster in commercial and financial affairs. It is reported that owing to the low price for wheat likely to prevail for the next few months if not throughout the harvest year holders of wheat are in a good many instances negotiating loans and discounts to meet their obligations that they may be able to hold their wheat until an advance does take place. If this be true traders and others who rely on the grain business will also be compelled to seek accommodations from other sources.

There is a decided improvement in the aspect of the silver market in England during the past 10 days. Then the quotations were 13@35 per cent discount, as compared with 10@25 per cent. now. In this connection we republish the following interesting statement to the London News direct from the manager of the Deutsche Bank, in Berlin:

"He denies the statements which have been made that the stock consists of many millions that the government intends to offer so many hundred tons per month and that attempts have been made to force sales at reduced prices. He says that the [illegible] available stock is only £300,000 to £400 000 that the sales have only averaged two or three millions sterling a year and large offers at present prices have been refused. Those who are competent to form an opinion in Berlin estimate the available surplus at seven and a half millions and as the old silver is coming in slowly the present stock is not likely to be unduly increased."

There was considerable ill feeling at San Francisco at the action of the Secretary of the Treasury in ordering an exchange of silver coin for legal tenders at the Sub Treasury in the face of the fact that that market is already overstocked with the coin. Assistant United States Treasurer Sherman received orders to exchange $50 000 in half dollars and quarter dollars for legal tenders and the work commenced at 10 A. M. on the 12th. No applicant could get over $1 000 and the denominations of the bills presented for silver must be assorted in packages of $100.

Miscellaneous.

Notwithstanding the reported loss of the hay crop on the Columbia by high water we learn that a very large surplus has been put up by the farmers along the river and that the supply in this market from that direction will be about as large this season as the average of former years.

The exports of wheat from the United States from [illegible] ber 1, 1875, to July 29, 1876, have been 32 2[illegible]4,492 bushels, against 41,438,510 bushels for the same [illegible] od of 1874-75. The flour exports amounted to [illegible],761 barrels in 1875-76 against 880,165 barrels for the same time in 1874-75.

Four sticks of sawn timber, each 134 feet long and 24 inches wide by 20 thick have lately arrived at San Francisco from the Port Blakely sawmill, Washington Territory, and are afloat now in the [illegible] at Pier 2 Stuart street. They are to be used in strengthening the ship Blue Jacket. They are the largest timbers ever sawn on Puget Sound, and [illegible] mably the largest ever sawn anywhere.

The number of vessels belonging to or bound to or from ports in the United States reported totally lost and missing during the past month is thirteen of which seven were wrecked, two burned one sunk by collision, one foundered and two are missing. The list comprises two ships, one bark one brig and nine schooners, and their total value, exclusive of cargo [illegible] is estimated at $265 000.

The San Francisco Commercial News of last Friday says: There has been considerably more activity in wheat freights during the week than for some time past, partly owing to freer arrivals of wheat from the interior and a more general disposition on the part of holders to sell and partly to the fact that parties who had made cargo sales for August loading have taken vessels. There seems to be no present disposition to take vessels except as stated above and rates cannot be quoted higher than £3 to Cork, with the usual advance to the continent.

Only ten vessels of the Oregon grain fleet of 1875-76 are not yet reported as arrived. Of these six are about due at English ports of destination.

Below will be found the amount of grain in sight in the States and Canada, July 22, 1876. Wheat 9,650 660 bushels corn 7,504,521 bushels oats 4,006,144 bushels barley, 575,010 bushels rye [illegible] 831 bushels.

The exports from the leading seaboard ports of the United States during the week ending August 3, include 61,968 barrels of flour 487 463 bushels of wheat 1,120 129 bushels of corn 27 548 bushels of oats, 28,673 bushels of rye 1,562 bushels of peas 2,465 barrels of pork, 5 224,440 pounds of lard, 3 522 117 pounds of bacon.

The launching of Capts. Gilman and Holman's new tug boat the Pilot is considered among shippers an important event as she will prove a great addition to the facilities offering for the accommodation of vessels entering our rivers.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

600,000 Acres in

EASTERN OREGON!

For Farming and Grazing Purposes.

THESE LANDS ARE SITUATED IN WASCO Grant and Baker counties and are offered for sale in such sized tracts not less than 160 acres as purchasers may desire. Here is afforded a most favorable opportunity to immigrants and settlers seeking homes and low priced land to acquire both on the most reasonable terms. These lands are excellent for farming and grazing. On most of the tracts no grubbing or other preparation of the land for plowing is requisite. A growth of nutritious grass covers the uplands affording the best of pasturage while in the valleys and bottom lands the grass can be mowed and made into hay. Living springs and streams water the lands in various directions. The uplands or rolling lands, can be put into crops with the most satisfactory return. Fruit particulars [illegible] peaches plums grapes apples pears and cherries as well as the smaller fruits can be grown in great abundance. The climate of Eastern Oregon is very healthful. Flourishing towns are located at convenient points for traffic, the mails are regularly conveyed throughout that section and a prosperous population is already established [illegible] in farming stock growing [illegible] and various other pursuits.

Terms $1 25 per acre and upwards according to quality and quantity. Interest ten per cent on deferred payments.

Auditor and Clerk
Aug 1 1876

Ordinance No. 1801.

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE CONSTRUCTION of a wharf and building in front of and adjacent to the southerly portion of block No 1 [illegible]

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. The owner or owners of [illegible] four and the south half of lot three in block number [illegible] are hereby authorized and permitted to construct a wharf of plank and timber in the Willamette river in front of said lots. The easterly line of said wharf to run parallel with the east line of Front street from the northeast corner of the wharf known as Pacific Wharf to the north line of the south half of said lot three upon a continuation of the easterly line of said Pacific Wharf as described by Ordinance No 1[illegible] The lower floor of said wharf and the roadway thereto to conform to the grade of said Pacific Wharf at its connection therewith.

Section 2. The upper story or floor of said wharf shall not extend easterly beyond the lines of the lower wharf or beyond the lines of the block southwardly except for a passageway fifteen feet wide along and over the north side of Salmon street to within 38 feet of the easterly margin of said wharf and for the said distance of 38 feet said passageway shall not extend southwardly into said street for a greater distance than six feet. Provided That the whole of said passageways and all of those portions of said wharf extending over and into the street shall be subject to regulations by the Common Council as a part of said street and sidewalk. And provided further that a suitable trap for fire purposes shall be placed in the lower roadway to be kept clear and in order by the owners of said wharf.

Section 3. The owner of the property described in section one is hereby authorized and permitted to erect a one story warehouse thereon to be constructed of wood with the roof covered with some fire proof material anything contained in Ordinance No 1140 entitled an Ordinance to provide for the prevention of fires and the protection of property endangered thereby and the amendments thereto to the contrary notwithstanding.

Ordinance No. 1802.

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING CONTRACTS for certain street work.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. The Committee on Streets and Public Property are hereby authorized and directed to prepare plans and estimates and enter into contract with the lowest responsible bidder or bidders for filling that part of Front street at and adjacent to Morrison street washed out by the storms of the past winter also to contract for putting in a suitable catch basin and wooden culvert at said point of sufficient capacity to prevent a like occurrence. Said committee are further authorized to plank or otherwise provide for travel across said fill provided that the whole cost of the work at said point shall not exceed the sum of seven hundred dollars.

Section 2. The damage to said Front street having been occasioned by the acts of the City authorities the expense of said work shall be paid out of the General Fund.

Section 3. If in their opinion the interest of the City will be subserved thereby, the Committee on Streets and Public Property are authorized to include in said contract the grading of the Public Levee and of Park Blocks Nos 15 and 16 and the streets adjacent thereto or so much thereof as they may deem expedient the earth to be taken therefrom to be used in filling Front street as aforesaid.
